CAROLE HENSHER RE AND JONATHAN HENSHER

Carole Hensher is a printmaker living and working in South London. Her chosen method of printmaking is lithography and she also makes soft sculptures from fabric which can include her printed motifs. Carole refers to feminine clothing, past and present, in her work. She also gains inspiration from the forms of shoes, gloves and often intimate items of clothing for both her prints and sculptures.

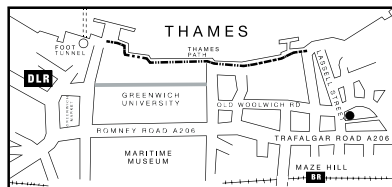

Education: Camberwell College of Arts and the University of East London.

Jonathan Hensher is a Manchester-based painter whose work is primarily concerned with the urban landscape in this great northern city. Working in the School of Languages, Linguistics and Cultures at the University of Manchester, he has published various articles on the illustrated book and the theory of text-image relations.

Education: Camberwell College of Arts and the Universities of Manchester and Nancy II (France).

Showing from May 26th to June 14th 2008
